

giving nature
a home

RSPB Heathland Walk...

Where: Iping & Stedham Common, near Midhurst

When: Friday 21 February 2014, 10am

Cost: Free

The walk will be led by Richard Black of the RSPB, and will take about 2 hours in total. We will be meandering through Iping Common looking out for wintering flocks of thrushes, finches and tits. Iping and Stedham Commons are well-known for their woodlarks, and stonechats are a frequenter of the area. And if we're lucky, we might even get the opportunity to see a Dartford Warbler (one of my particular favourites!). These Commons are a fantastic place to see key heathland species. We will also have the opportunity to learn about the important conservation work involved in managing a healthy heathland.

Weather permitting, there will be plenty of opportunities for taking pictures.

Please wear suitable winter clothing and footwear. Bring your cameras and binoculars if you have them. No dogs please.

Spaces are limited so please RSVP to Kelvin Cooper on 01273 763600 or e-mail kelvin.cooper@rspb.org.uk to book your free place.

We will be meeting at the car park in Iping Common on Elsted Road, Grid Ref SU852219 :: Post Code GU29 0PB. By kind permission of the Sussex Wildlife Trust.

giving
nature
a home

RSPB Heathland Walk...

Where: Iping & Stedham Common, near Midhurst
When: Friday 21 February 2014, 10am
Cost: Free

The walk will be led by Richard Black of the RSPB, and will take about 2 hours in total. We will be meandering through Iping Common looking out for wintering flocks of thrushes, finches and tits. Iping and Stedham Commons are well-known for their woodlarks, and stonechats are a frequenter of the area. And if we're lucky, we might even get the opportunity to see a Dartford Warbler (one of my particular favourites!). These Commons are a fantastic place to see key heathland species. We will also have the opportunity to learn about the important conservation work involved in managing a healthy heathland.

Weather permitting, there will be plenty of opportunities for taking pictures.

Please wear suitable winter clothing and footwear. Bring your cameras and binoculars if you have them. No dogs please.

Spaces are limited so please RSVP to Kelvin Cooper on 01273 763600 or e-mail kelvin.cooper@rspb.org.uk to book your free place.

We will be meeting at the car park in Iping Common on Elsted Road, Grid Ref SU852219 :: Post Code GU29 0PB. By kind permission of the Sussex Wildlife Trust.