MILL HILL ACCESS TRAIL

Mill Hill is an 11 hectare (28 acre) chalk grassland site designated as a Site of Nature Conservation Importance (SNCI) and a Local Nature Reserve in recognition of its great variety of wildlife including many rare species. A huge range of chalk grassland species flourish here including Adonis blue and chalkhill blue butterflies, the yellow herb horseshoe vetch and the distinctive whitethroat.

Mill Hill Access Trail is a 0.3 miles (0.5km) wheelchair friendly circular route with passing and resting places. The route takes you through stunning chalk grassland, a woodland copse and gives you spectacular views of the River Adur, the English Channel, surrounding downland and the stunning Lancing College.

There is a wheelchair friendly picnic table at the start of the trail.

SOUTH DOWNS NATIONAL PARK
